In the meantime, France has extirpated the Napoleon family, and declared them no longer rulers of that nation. Thus King William has reached his point in a double aspect. He has beaten Napoleon on the field, and never to concede anything. By virtue of his person and armies, and gives all that is necessary in a geoof his pertinacity he has succeeded in making his countrymen accept his opportunity of cutting up Imperialgraphical view to a thorough under- stubbornness and loquacity for pastanding of the seat of war and the advance of the Prussians toward Paris. RADICAL masters of South Carolina have served that State almost as brutally as Brownlow and his followers have done Tennessee. The debt of South Carolina in 1867 was only $5,500,000—in 1870 it is $14,000,000, and the only good that results from all this expenditure has been violence, lawlessness, the uplifting of ignorance, perjury and knavery, and the degradation of honesty and intelligence.

Immost than those of the men we have named, but twenty years of Napoleonism has exiled or otherwise suppressed them. The new Republic of France has the best wishes of the Republic of America, but we so much lear the result on the popular mind of the rules of visionaries, exclists and the interests of Germany. They desire to rule France by the popular will, to repair the losses sustained by the war, to remove all vestiges of Imperialism, in short, to infuse fresh life and animation into France.
